ABSTRACT

A handkerchief has a base layer of soft, absorbent material and a pouch layer of soft, absorbent material. The area of the pouch layer is less than the area of the base layer.

The pouch layer is attached to the base layer so as to form an enclosed pouch having a single access opening.